I trust the time is far distant when Great Britain and these United States will be engaged in hostile strife; but prudence requires that we should, at least, have our military system so perfected that we could readily prepareour selves to repel invasion. The most effectual way of doing this, in my opinion, is to extend proper encouragement to the formation of "Independent Company of the State, and whatever appropriations you see fit in your wis and dignity of the State, and whatever appropriations you see fit in your wis a proper second proper encouragement and dignity of the State, and whatever appropriations you see fit in your wis a state of the Legislature, elected as they now are, for two years, but would require them to meet annually, and limit their sessions to sixty days each. The different Officers of your State government no longer have sufficient room in which to perform their duties. The archives of the State are unsafe—the very building in which they are kept is in danger of falling. You have no proper and suitable place at Lansing for the holding of the Supreme Court. It is believed that the increase of business in the State Treasurer's department alone, in consequence of the general banking law going into operation, will require very great additional room. The Library of the State should yearly be increased, but the room used for the Library of the State should yearly in order to build a Capitol suitable to the wants of the State, and of sufficient capacity. Fever and Ague, from which mankind suffer over a large part of the globe, is the consequence of a diseased action in the system, induced by the poisonous miasm of vegetable decay. This exhalation is evolved by the action of solar heat on wet soil, and rises with the watery vapor from it. While the sun is below the horizon this vapor lingers near the earth's surface, and the virus is taken with it through the lungs into the blood. There it acts as an irritating poison on the internal viscera and exercting organs of the body. The liver becomes torpid and fails to secrete not only this virus, but also the bile from the blood. Both the virus and also the bile from the blood. Both the virus and the bile accumulate in the circulation, and produce violent constitutional disorder. The spleen, the kidneys, and the stomach sympathize with the liver, and become disordered also. Finally, the instinct of our organism, as if in an attempt to expel the noxious infusion, concentrates the whole blood of the body in the internal excretories to force them to cast it out. The blood leaves the surface, and rushes to the central organs with congestive violence. This is the Cattle. But in this effort it fails. Then the Fayas follows, in which the blood leaves the central organs and rushes to the surface, as if in another effort to expel the irritating poison through that other great excretory—the skin. In this also it fails, and the system abandons the attempt exhausted, and waits for the recovery of strength to repeat size hopeless effort another day. These are the fits or paroxyans of Fayar and Agua. Such constitutional disorder will of course undermine the health if it is not removed.

We have labored to find, and have found, an antitote, which neutralizes this malarious poison in the blood, and stimulates the liver to expel it from the body. As it should, so it does care this afflicting disorder with perfect certainty. And it does more, or rather does what is of more service to those subject to this infection. If taken in season it expels it from the system as it is absorbed, and thus keeps those who use it free from its attacks; keeps the system in health although exposed to the disease. Consequently it not only cures, but protects from the great variety of affections which are induced by this malignant influence, such as Remittent Fever. Chill Fever, Dumb, or Masked Ague, Periodical Headache, or Bilious Headache, Bilious Fevers, Neuralgia, Itheumatism, Gout, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitations, Painful Affections of the Spleen, Hysterics, Colic, Paralysis, and Painful Affections of the Stomach and Bowels, all of which, when arising from this cause, will be found to assume more or less the intermittent type. This "Ague Cura" removes the cause of these derangements, and cures the disease. Ayer's Ague Cure,

This it accomplishes by stimulating the excretories to expel the virus from the system; and these organs by degrees become habited to do this their office of their own accord. Hence arises what we term acclimatation. Time may accomplish the same end, but often life is not long enough, or is sacrificed in the attempt, while this "AGUE CURE" does it at once, and with safety. We have great reason to believe this is a surer as well as safer remedy for the whole class of diseases which are caused by the missmatic infection, than any other which has been discovered; and it has still another important advantage to the public, which is, that important advantage to the public, which is, that it is cheap as well as good.
